Visualizing second pooling layer activations for each channel, averaged across all images from the clean validation data set (before pruning any channel)