Visualizing second pooling layer activations for each channel, averaged across all images from the clean test data set (with random perturbation)